

Questions to Ask

About Clinical Trials

What is the purpose of the study?

What phase is this clinical trial in?

What treatment is being studied?

What is the treatment being compared to?

Have there been similar studies? What were the results?

Who is paying for this study?

Do you think I meet the requirements to join this study?

Why do researchers think this treatment might work?

What happens if I get worse during the trial?

What will I need to do if I join?

Will it cost me anything to participate? Will I get reimbursed?

What are the risks, benefits, and options if I get hurt?

What kinds of treatments, procedures, or tests will I have during the trial?

Who will give me these treatments, procedures, or tests?

What side effects might happen from the treatments or tests?

Can I keep taking my regular medications while in the trial?

Will I find out the results of the study?

How can I contact the study team if I have questions or concerns?